Now that I am in Anchorage – How do I get to the Hilton?

Welcome to Alaska! Anchorage is known for beautiful scenery, moose, and its independent spirit. Situated on coastal plain at the base of the Chugach Mountains, Anchorage is not only a tourist destination, but also a global hub for air cargo traffic. It is the third busiest air cargo airport, behind only Memphis and Hong Kong. Trivia note: It is equidistant from Shanghai to Amsterdam.

And this year, it is home to the 63d AMC hosted by Japan Airlines!

So, enjoy the AMC and try to stay an extra day to see the colorful sights around town. Now let's get you out of the airport.

First things first:

- You are going to the Hilton Anchorage
 - 500 West Third Street, Anchorage, AK 99501
- Check in time is 1600. You can call to possibly arrange an earlier time if needed.
- The cost of onsite parking is $24 USD per day with in-out privilege – Valet covered.
 - Note: There is limited off-site parking nearby
 - Downtown Anchorage is convenient for shopping and great food within easy walking distance – so you may not need a rental car during the Conference – if you plan to travel after the Conference we recommend picking up your car at that time.
- The hotel is very modern with a fitness center, laundry services, business clerical services, etc.
- Wireless is available for free in most common areas, as well the sleeping rooms.

From Ted Stevens Anchorage International Airport there are a couple methods of getting downtown:

- Anchorage public transportation – Least expensive but very slow with many stops
- Airport Shuttle – Moderately priced (~$17) but may have a few stops for passenger drops
- Taxi, or hired car – More Expensive (~$20) but probably fastest
- Rental Car

Anchorage Public Transportation

The Hilton Anchorage hotel is only 10 miles from the airport, and public transportation (bus) will get you about 3 blocks from the hotel. There is not an express bus to the downtown area. Given a chance of inclement weather, this method is not recommended.

Day Pass Ticket: $5 USD

Rental Cars

The car rental facility is directly across from the south terminal of the airport.
